CLAPA is a small charity working to improve the lives of people born with a cleft and their families in the UK.

Three babies are born with a cleft every day in the UK. CLAPA is a community of families, patients and health professionals, all dedicated to raising awareness and working together to overcome any barriers caused by cleft lip and palate.

Oscar Brown was born with a unilateral cleft lip and palate in 2012, he has had 6 operations, his first at 7 months old. He is due more operations in the future with his next operation in 2022. He has had regular hospital appointment, speech and language therapy and hearing loss due to his cleft.
